Safe Frontier wants to demonstrate its commitment to your privacy therefore it has agreed to disclose its information practices and have its privacy practices reviewed for compliance.

1. Overview

Safe Frontier respects the privacy of our customers and business partners. We recognize the need for protections and management of personal information that is provided to us or accessed by us. Safe Frontier has therefore established this Privacy Policy to assist you to understand what information we collect and how that information is used. This statement may change from time to time so please check back periodically. By accessing any Safe Frontier website, downloading any materials from Safe Frontier websites, purchasing products or services, or by providing any information to Safe Frontier including via Safe Frontier Technology Hub, Safe Frontier websites, e-mail addresses, or otherwise, you acknowledge and fully understand Safe Frontier's Privacy Policy and consent to the information collection and use practices described herein. If you do not agree to this Privacy Statement, do not use Safe Frontier websites, download any materials from them, purchase products or services or provide information to Safe Frontier or its affiliated or partner companies.

2. Information We Collect and How We Use It

A. Types of Information

Information Logging. Safe Frontier may track and use information relating to website usage such as: Internet protocol address; kind of browser, operating system or computer used; number of links clicked within a website; state or country from which you accessed the site; date and time of your visit(s); name of your Internet service provider; web page(s) you linked to or from another website; and pages you viewed on a website.

Cookies. Safe Frontier may use cookies. A cookie is a small text file that is placed on your hard disk by a Web page server. Cookies cannot be used to run programs or deliver viruses to your computer. Cookies are uniquely assigned to you, and can only be read by a Web Server in the domain that issued the cookie to you. One of the primary purposes of cookies is to provide a convenience feature to save you time. For example, if you personalize a web page, or navigate within a site, a cookie helps the site to recall your specific information on subsequent visits. Hence, this simplifies the process of delivering relevant content and eases site navigation by providing and saving your preferences and login information as well as providing personalized functionality. We link cookies to personal information on the site in order to make it easier for users to return to the site and to access the Site's features.

Safe Frontier reserves the right to share aggregated site statistics with partner companies, but does not allow other companies to place cookies on our website unless there is a temporary, overriding customer value.

You have the ability to accept or decline cookies. Most Web browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies. If you reject cookies by changing your browser settings then be aware that this may disable some of the functionality on our Website.

Personal Information. Personal information is information that can be used to identify or contact a specific individual, such as a name, address, telephone number or email address. Safe Frontier may collect or access certain personal information from customers and business partners. Other than as set forth above, Safe Frontier does not collect personal information unless you choose to provide such personal information.

On Safe Frontier web sites you may be able to order products or services, register products, request information, subscribe to marketing or support materials, and register to a secure extranet site to obtain access to product information, support, services and training. The types of personal information you provide to us on these pages may include name, address, phone number, e-mail address, user IDs and passwords, billing and transaction information, credit card or other financial information, contact preferences, educational and employment background, job interest data and benefit choices.

Testimonials. We post customer testimonials on our web site which may contain personally identifiable information such as the customer's name. We do obtain the customer's consent prior to posting the testimonial to post their name along with their testimonial. If you want to remove your personal information that is being displayed on our website under public pages please send your request to legal@safefrontier.com.

Blogs. If you use the blogs on our Web sites, you should be aware that any personally identifiable information you submit there can be read, collected, or used by other users of these forums, and could be used to send you unsolicited messages. We are not responsible for the personally identifiable information you choose to submit in these forums.

B. Use of Information

Except as described in this Privacy Statement, we will not disclose your personal information outside of Safe Frontier and its subsidiaries, affiliates and partners without your consent. We do not sell, rent, or lease personal information or our customer lists to third parties. We use all the information we collect to provide and enhance the products, services and information you request and to contact you regarding our products and services. This may include: billing and other accounting purposes; establishing accounts and contacting you regarding important information about your account, including notices and updates; display of personalized content and advertising; informing you of other products or services offered by Safe Frontier and its affiliates; sending you relevant survey invitations; providing you with additional materials regarding Safe Frontier products and services or to connect you with a Safe Frontier representative, if necessary; responding directly to your questions, comments or requests for support; analyzing site usage, to improve and customize our web sites and products and service offers, and to improve our marketing and promotional efforts; compiling; and enforcing our agreements with you. The information we collect may be combined with information obtained from other sources and other companies. We may compile, sell, and otherwise use for any purpose non personal information relating to or arising from the capabilities, problems, successes, statistics, diagnostics, inventory, composition, configuration, performance (or lack thereof) of: (a) the Software or Services; (b) Authorized Machines or any network to which an Authorized Machine is connected; or (c) any software or hardware loaded on, comprising, or used in connection with or otherwise related to any of the forgoing. In order to help provide our products, services, or information, we occasionally hire other companies to assist such as providing products or services, handling the processing and delivery of mailings, providing customer support, hosting websites, processing transactions, or performing statistical analysis of our services. Those companies will be permitted to obtain only the information they need to deliver the service. They are required to maintain the confidentiality of the information and are prohibited from using it for any other purpose.

We may access and/or disclose any information if we believe such action is necessary to: (a) comply with any law, judicial, proceeding, government request, court order, legal process, rule or regulation or any process served on Safe Frontier; (b) protect and defend the rights or property of Safe Frontier (including the enforcement of our agreements); or (c) act in urgent circumstances or emergencies. If Safe Frontier is acquired by or merged with a third party, we reserve the right, to sell or otherwise transfer the personal Information we have collected as part of that transaction provided that such third party continues to honor our Privacy Statement.

3. Communication Preferences and Choices

You can stop the delivery of promotional e-mail or other Safe Frontier communications by contacting Safe Frontier at legal@safefrontier.com. These choices do not apply to the receipt of mandatory product or service communications that are considered part of certain Safe Frontier products or services, which you may receive periodically unless you cancel the product or service. Furthermore, Safe Frontier does not require that you provide Safe Frontier with personal information. The decision to provide personal information is voluntary. If you do not wish to provide the personal information requested, however, you may not be able to proceed with the activity or receive the benefit for which the personal information is being requested.

4. Accessing and Changing Your Personal Information

You may have the ability to view or edit your personal information by contacting us at legal@safefrontier.com, and we will contact you to enable you to access your information and the opportunity to change your information. To protect your privacy and security, we may require steps to verify your identity, such as a password and user ID, before granting access to your data.

5. Third Party Policies

Related offerings with links from Safe Frontier's websites have their own privacy policies that can be viewed by clicking on the corresponding links within each respective website. All Safe Frontier partners are encouraged to participate in industry privacy initiatives and to take a responsible attitude towards consumer privacy. However, since we do not have direct control over the policies or practices of participating third parties, we are not responsible for the privacy practices or contents of those sites. We recommend and encourage that you always review the privacy policies of other third parties before you provide any personal information or complete any transaction with such parties.

6. Collection and Use of Children's Personal Information

Safe Frontier does not knowingly collect personal information from children under the age of 13. If Safe Frontier learns that we have personal information on a child under the age of 13, we will delete that information from our systems. We encourage you to talk with your children about communicating with strangers and disclosing personal information online. You should instruct children to never give personal information, unless supervised by a parent or responsible adult, monitor the sites your kids are visiting and which sites are appropriate and review privacy policies to understand how your child's information is treated.

7. Security

Safe Frontier takes information security very seriously and uses reasonable measures to protect your personal information from unauthorized access. We use a variety of security technologies depending on the situation and procedures to help protect your personal information from unauthorized access, use, or disclosure such as physical access controls, Secure Socket Layers (SSL), Internet firewalls, intrusion detection, and network monitoring. However, no security system can be guaranteed to be 100% secure, and therefore Safe Frontier does not guarantee the security or confidentiality of your Information or assume any liability whatsoever for improper access or loss of your information or any liability for damages incurred by you or a third party as a result of improper access or loss of your information, including negligence. By using the Safe Frontier web site, or providing Information to us through any means, you agree that we can communicate with you electronically about any matter including regarding security, privacy, and administrative issues.

If a password is used to help protect your accounts and personal information, it is your responsibility to keep your password confidential. Do not share this information with anyone. If you are sharing a computer with anyone you should always log out before leaving a site or service to protect access to your information from subsequent users.

8. Use of Web Beacons

Safe Frontier web pages may contain electronic images known as web beacons - sometimes called single-pixel gifs - that may be used to assist in delivering cookies on our sites and allow us to count users who have visited those pages and to deliver co-branded services. We may include web beacons in promotional e-mail messages or our newsletters in order to determine whether messages have been opened and acted upon.

Safe Frontier may also employ web beacons from third parties in order to help us compile aggregated statistics regarding the effectiveness of our promotional campaigns or other operations of our sites. We prohibit web beacons on our sites from being used by third parties to collect or access your personal information.

Finally, we may work with other companies that advertise on Safe Frontier sites to place web beacons on their sites in order to allow us to develop statistics on how often clicking on an advertisement on a Safe Frontier site results in a purchase or other action on the advertiser's site.

9. Changes to this Policy

We reserve the right to modify this Privacy Policy at any time without any notification, so please review it frequently. Your continued use of Safe Frontier's products, services or websites or communication with Safe Frontier constitutes your agreement to this Privacy Policy and any updates.

10. Contacting Us
